Questions and Answers. In this weeks number of Noah's Times and Messenger, we find the following quesions and answers: Query:-What is meant by the phrase

Popping the question?" Is it merely the ffering of hand and heart to one's lady ove, without reference to the time of Answer:—To "pop the question" is to ask a lady to become your wife.

Query:—Would it be well for a young man to marry upon a salary of $\mathbb{E}_{1}^{\text{in}}$. narrying, or is it necessary to settle upon man to marry upon a salary of $14 per week, when he is not positive that his situation is permanent, but dependent upon the state of business? Answer:- It would not be very discreet, but it depends much upon other circu.n-Query:-State what trait of character is indicated by a retreating chin, or what you would judge of the character of a person having the lower part of the face very broad? Answer: -According to Lavater, and agreeably to general impressions, a full, prominent chin indicates mental and moral strength. Of course a retreating chin is supposed to indicate the reverse. This idea is borne out by the fact that idiots generally possess retreating chins. Con breadth in the lower part of the face indicates coarse animal propensities.

Query:—A bets D that Lincoln will get the electoral vote of New Jersey. As Lincoln gets four and the Union party three out of the seven votes of the State, who wins, or is it a drawn bet?" Ansmer:-According to the "sporting" rules, the bet is drawn, as neither win.

Query:—Is there more religion among he educated than the uneducated?" Answer:-The world of intelligence is divided in opinion on the subject. Our belief is that an increase of religion always accompanies an increase of mental enlightenment. Superficial learning is very apt to lead to an egotism which ever culminates in irreligious principles; but thorough happy ledge is rarely national such immodesty; and consequently escapes its consequence.

Query:—"If the State of Minnesota should pass a law that all men who had resided for the last six months in that State would be fully recognized citizens of that State, would such men be considered citizens of the United States while residing in that State?"

ing in that State?"

Answer:—No; they would be citizens of that State only.

Query:—Decide a dispute by stating whether, in Indiana, or any other State of the Union, a wife can obtain a divorce from her husband or a husband from his wife on the the sole ground of incorporation.

Also if a divorce so obtained would be valid in all the States and Territories of the Union. Answer:—There is no State in which a complete divorce will be granted for the causes you assign; but, in Georgia, a divorce from bed and board is allowed for such irregularities. In Tennessee a divorce from bed and board will be granted if, when the husband has moved into the State and become a citizen the wife refuses to follow. A full "divorce from the bonds of matrimony" will be granted for "personal indignities which render life burdensome," in Arkansas, Missouri, Oregon. Pennsylvania, and Texas: "for negect to provide for wife," in California, Indiana, Michigan, New Hampshire, Ore-gon, Rhode Island, and Vermont; whether "either party has been unbeard of for sev-en years," in California and Vermont; for 'habitually violent temper," in Florida; for "any other cause the court may deem 'sufficient," in Indiana; when "it is evi-dent the parties cannot live in peace and happiness together," in lowa; when either party joins a sect which "believes the marriage relation unlawful," in New Hampshire, &c. A divorce granted in one State, if granted in accordance with its laws, is valid in all the States.
